24/7 Global Customer Support

Providing real-time synchronization of data across your enterprise and extended supply chain, Acsis Partner Management helps you monitor and manage key events and data like never before.

Acsis Partner Management, a module of the ProducTrak suite, unifies and aligns people, information and business processes across technologies and organizations while fully integrating with your ERP system.

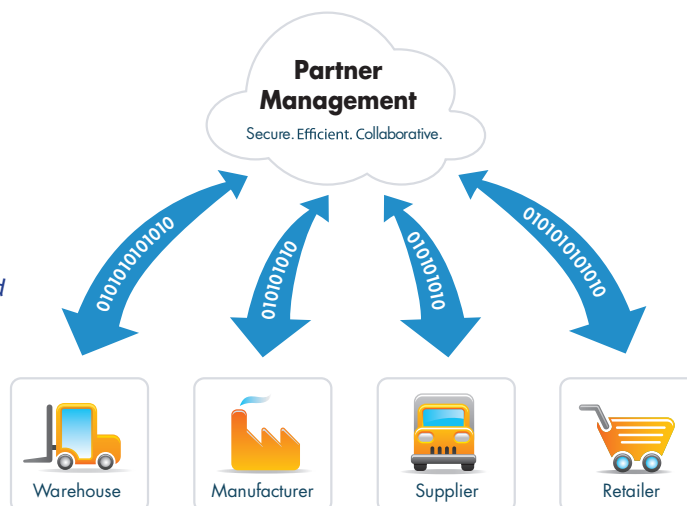

When fully incorporated into your operations, Partner Management applications form a layer on top of your ERP system. Without interfering with daily processes, the solution provides you and your network of partners with the appropriate real-time, synchronized data needed to facilitate greater collaboration, efficiency, productivity and flexibility—with less risk.

As a result, vendors, suppliers, contract manufacturers and third-party warehouses far outside your physical enterprise become fully integrated into your extended supply chain. And the data they generate (and require from others) to effectively and efficiently operate within the supply chain is made instantly available through a secured web site.

Acsis Partner Management helps you:

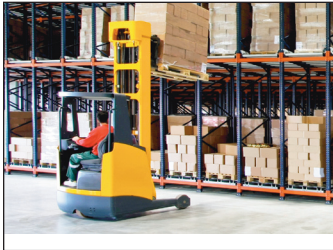

- Gain complete visibility into your entire collaborative network of partners
- Monitor and manage key events based on current data
- Communicate immediate adjustments to every affected trading partner— instantaneously

Partner Management provides you with enhanced control over product quality and inventory management processes. Its key applications help you anticipate and adjust to quickly changing variations in supply and demand throughout your supply chain.

Partner Management applications provide you and your web of partners with the appropriate real-time, synchronized data needed to facilitate greater cooperation, productivity and flexibility.

Acsis ProducTrak™ Partner Management

The cornerstones of supply chain management and execution

Purchase Order Management – By utilizing Partner Management for purchase order management, trading partners can extract and download purchase orders, send acknowledgements, print unique barcode labels and packing slips for their order, and automatically generate advanced shipping notices. All of these activities are handled efficiently and integrated electronically through the secure web-based platform.

Third-Party Warehouse Management – To simplify the coordination activities of third-party warehouses, Partner Management features the ability to track and communicate information about inbound receipts and deliveries to the warehouse, pick-and-post goods issues, and outbound shipments and deliveries to customers.

Your third-party warehouses have online access to the files they need to print barcode labels and shipping documents. Using a web browser, you and your selected partners can view and transfer important information to make any adjustments needed to keep your entire extended supply chain operating as efficiently as possible.

Production Management – Using Partner Management for production management gives you a broad view of your partner network and the ability to drill down to critical event details. The solution's "collaborative cockpit" allows you to manage important activities occurring throughout your extended supply chain and third-party manufacturing sites.

Extended supply chain and product visibility for a world-class business model

Unify and align people, information and business processes across a web of technologies and enterprises with Acsis Partner Management. Ensure that you and your key partners have real-time visibility into the detailed data that affects your entire supply chain.
