ProducTrak Mobile from Acsis increases the accuracy and product visibility of current ERP and IT systems, streamlining internal processes and maximizing business intelligence.

Acsis ProducTrak Mobile is a solution for manufacturers and distributors that allows shop floor processes and product movement to be tightly integrated into an existing ERP system, improving efficiency, visibility and inventory management.

Utilizing the Acsis VisiTrak platform for real-time integration, business process automation and data collection, ProducTrak Mobile can:

- Integrate shop floor transactions and product movement with ERP systems and shop floor systems in real time
- Provide a full suite of mobile transactions for product movement within the warehouse
- Support movement of serialized and non-serialized product using a single transaction set
- Provide a foundation for serialization that supports track-and-trace analytics, capabilities and integration
- Integrate with ePedigree software packages for pedigree generation and product authentication
- Manage device orchestration and integration for each step of the tracking and tracing processes

Foundation for product traceability

ProducTrak Mobile provides companies with the foundation for a product traceability solution that includes the ability to integrate with barcode and RFID technology, connect to shop floor devices, and integrate data from multiple shop floor systems. Its interactive and intuitive interface helps personnel perform their activities by giving them step-by-step instructions, real-time validation of data, and seamless integration into ERP.

Actionable Business Intelligence = Immediate ROI Impact

Acsis ProducTrak Mobile: A solution for costly business issues

Organizations across all industries are plagued by the issues of visibility and traceability. Acsis provides comprehensive product management and tracking through the complete lifecycle of your product—from the warehouse through the supply chain. This type of visibility addresses business issues that cost companies millions of dollars per year.

Reduce chargebacks –
By ensuring the “perfect order” (picking and packing the correct items, in the right quantities, in the correct order, with proper documentation and invoicing, by the date requested), you can decrease the number of chargebacks and reduce the impact on your bottom line.

Pinpoint product recalls –
Track and trace a product from raw material to finished goods—as well as through the extended supply chain to the hospital, wholesaler or retailer—so you can identify only affected products and quickly withdraw them from the marketplace.

Reduce diversion –
Automating the tracking of products through the distribution network can provide visibility at each location, ensuring product delivery and identifying suspect areas in the supply chain that need greater security.

An integral part of the Acsis ProducTrak suite, ProducTrak Mobile helps automate and track the movement of goods within your internal environment, providing actionable business intelligence.

- Real-time systems integration – Device-agnostic, ProducTrak Mobile supports barcode labeling and RFID tagging, with real-time integration and orchestration for all shop-floor devices and systems, including printers, conveyors, barcode scanners, RFID readers, and ERP, MES and quality control systems.

Companies can leverage their existing technology investment while enhancing data management at all levels of the manufacturing process.

- Product chain-of-custody documentation – ProducTrak Mobile can help companies guard against counterfeiting, theft, misrouting and diversion by providing a complete view of the product as it moves through the supply network.

The Acsis ProducTrak Advantage Boosts finished goods management

Achieving serialized track-and-trace compliance is important, but it's just the beginning: manufacturers need end-to-end, supply chain and distribution visibility to enhance decision-making and protect their brand integrity and corporate reputation and profitability. Acsis ProducTrak covers you every step of the way, from manufacturing through distribution and into the retail environment.

And ProducTrak's powerful intra- and inter-enterprise data sharing, collaboration and analytics capabilities leverage automated data to provide companies with a real understanding of their process interactions.

Maximizes serialization efficiency and product movement visibility

Acsis ProducTrak enables companies to comply with mandates and regulations—and so much more—at a price point similar to that of more narrowly targeted tools. With ProducTrak, companies can surpass today's—and tomorrow's—requirements through a flexible, scalable system that helps ensure compliance and automates product visibility for dramatic ROI results.

That's why leading manufacturers are leveraging Acsis ProducTrak to gain valuable insight into their business operations.
